SPOTLIGHT ON STUDENT ACHIEVEMENTS
HARAMBEE II RECIPIENTS

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

“We cannot trample upon the humanity of others without devaluing our own. The Igbo, always practical, put it concretely in their proverb Onye ji onye n’ani ji onwe ya: “He who will hold another down in the mud must stay in the mud to keep him down.”

— Chinua Achebe, The Education of a British-Protected Child: Essays

SPOTLIGHT ON STUDENT ACHIEVEMENTS

Ami Shipley is a fourth-year student from Bowie, Maryland, majoring in French, with a minor in Architecture. During her undergraduate time at UVA, she has amassed an impressive set of experiences, including an internship with Marc Mimram

Architecture | Ingenierie, in Paris France, and in the UVA Global Internship program in Rabat, Morocco. At UVA, Ami has volunteered in the Madison House ‘Adopt-a-Grandparent’ program and enjoys activities in the University Salsa and with the Virginia Alpine Ski & Snowboard team. Upon graduation, she hopes to become a junior designer, using her talents in architecture, visualization and 3D design. With her creative spirit, Ami says that she “enjoys not knowing what will come, while at the same time waiting for that beautiful something . . . that indescribable moment that will tint my imagination forever.”

You can nominate an exceptional student (not yourself) to be featured in the Spotlight on Student Achievements. Please send your nominations to Dean Patrice Grimes (pgrimes@virginia.edu) by Thursday at 12 noon for an upcoming OAAA edition.

Harambee II

On Sunday, January 22, 2017, the Office of African-American Affairs recognized first-year students who achieved academic honors during the 2016 fall semester at its annual program at Alumni Hall. Mr. Kwame Otu, Assistant Professor of African and African-American Studies, delivered the keynote speech. Representatives from various UVA and national programs met students to discuss academic and summer opportunities. A cake and punch reception immediately followed the program. It was a great event!

QUOTE'S CORNER: Chinua Achebe

Chinua Achebe

Novelist and educator Chinua Achebe was born Albert Chinualumogu Achebe on November 16, 1930, in the Igbo town of Ogidi in eastern Nigeria. He is best known for his 1958 novel: Things Fall Apart. The groundbreaking novel centers on the cultural clash between native African culture and the traditional white culture of missionaries and the colonial government in Nigeria. The book has become required reading in many schools across the world. Chinua Achebe died on March 21, 2013, at the age of 82, in Boston, Massachusetts.

HIS WEEK IN BLACK HISTORY WEEK OF JANUARY 30TH – FEBRUARY 5TH

February 3, 1956 - Autherine Lucy enrolled as a graduate at the University of Alabama, becoming the first African-American ever admitted to a white public school or university in the state.

The University Board of Trustees reluctantly allowed her to register and she was barred from all dormitories and dining halls. On the third day of classes, a hostile mob assembled to prevent Lucy from attending classes. The police were called to secure her admission but, that evening, the University suspended her on the grounds that it could not provide a safe environment. Lucy and her attorneys filed suit against the university to have the suspension overturned; however, this suit was not successful and was used as a justification for her permanent expulsion. University officials claimed that Lucy had slandered the university and she should not be a student. The University of Alabama finally overturned her expulsion in 1988, and in 1992, she earned her Master's degree. The university named an endowed scholarship in her honor and unveiled a portrait of her in the student union with the inscription –"her initiative and courage won the right for students of all races to attend the University. She is a member of the Zeta Phi Beta sorority. For more information please visit: <http://www.biography.com/people/autherine-lucy-21397427>

Rosa Parks was born February 4, 1913 in Tuskegee, Alabama. She was an African-American Civil Rights activist, joining the Montgomery chapter of the NAACP, where she was elected secretary.

Parks has been called by the United States Congress "the first lady of civil rights" and "the mother of the freedom movement." She also co-founded the Rosa L. Parks Scholarship Foundation for college-bound high school seniors, and co-founded the Rosa and Raymond Parks Institute for Self-Development. Her birthday and the day she was arrested have both become Rosa Parks Day, commemorated in both California and Ohio. She died October 24, 2005 at the age of 92. Parks was the first American who was never a U.S. government official, and the second black person to lie in state in the U.S. Capitol. For more information please visit: <http://www.history.com/topics/black-history/rosa-parks>

Career Fair Prep

Newcomb 170

Office Hours: Monday – Friday from 12:00 pm - 5:00 pm

February, 1983 - August Wilson's Fences, starring James Earl Jones opens at Chicago's Goodman Theatre.

Fences (1986), Wilson's masterpiece about an aging baseball player and his tumultuous relationship with his athlete son, marked the first Wilson play produced by the Goodman. Following its Chicago run, the show moved to Broadway where it won Tony Awards for Best Play, and for stars James Earl Jones and Mary Alice. Wilson also received the first of his two Pulitzer Prizes for the stirring work. In 2016, this award-winning play was adapted for the big screen and received Oscar nominations, including best picture, best actor (Denzel Washington) and best actress (Viola Davis)

The UVA Career Center is available to prepare students for the fair through career preparation programs, individual appointments, and during general office hours from. Career advising during open office hours is available in 15 minute sessions - no appointment necessary. This is a perfect opportunity for resume reviews, practicing your elevator pitch, job and internship search guidance, and more! Visit: How to Navigate a Career Fair page for additional tips.
