QUOTE OF THE WEEK

“You didn’t see me on television; you didn’t see news stories about me. The kind of role that I tried to play was to pick up pieces or put together pieces out of which I hoped organization might come. My theory is, strong people don’t need strong leaders.”
- Ella Baker

OAAA 2016-2017 Peer Advisor Applications – On Line Now!
Application Deadline: Friday, January 27th before 11:59 pm
<https://oaaa.virginia.edu/peer-advisor-program-application>

Each year, all entering Black first-year and transfer students are assigned an upper class "Big Brother" or "Big Sister" student, who serves as a resource throughout the academic year. OAAA Peer Advisors meet with students individually and plan group activities for new students to ease academic and social transitions. The pairings are based on academic and extracurricular interests. For more information, visit the website <http://oaaa.virginia.edu/peer-advisor-mentoring-program> or contact Dean Kimberly Bassett (kcb6j@virginia.edu)

Congratulations to the 2017 Stephanie Jean-Charles (SJC) Global Travel Award Recipients:

Kaelor Gordon – Ernst & Young Foundation Award
Yolande Pokam Tchuisseu – Seven Society Award

Bethany Gordon, Jillian Randolph & Charbene Williams also received SJC travel awards from supporters of the OAAA 40th Anniversary Celebration.

These students were recognized at Harambee II on Sunday, January 22, 2017 at Alumni Hall.

Harambee II

Sunday, January 22nd at 2:00 pm - Alumni Hall

The Office of African-American Affairs recognized first-year students who have achieved academic honors during the 2016 fall semester. Mr. Kwame Otu, Assistant Professor of African and African-American Studies, delivered the keynote speech. Representatives from various University and national programs met students to discuss academic and summer opportunities. A cake and punch reception immediately followed the program. It was a great event!

January 29, 1926 – Violette Neatly Anderson the first African American and the first woman appointed to practice law for the Supreme Court of the United States

Violette Neatly Anderson began a private law practice--the first African-American woman to practice law in the U.S. District Court Eastern Division. From 1922 to 1923, she served as the first female city prosecutor in Chicago. After five years of practice before the high court of Illinois, Anderson was admitted to practice for the Supreme Court of the United States, becoming the first African-American woman to attain this stature. Anderson also belonged to the Federal Colored Women's Clubs, was president of Friendly Big Sisters League of Chicago, First Vice-President of Cook County Bar Association, and secretary of Idlewild Lot Owners Association. In addition, she was a member of the executive board of Chicago Council of Social Agencies. She was also the 8th Grand Basileus of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. She showed her pride in them by bequeathing her summer home in Idlewild to the organization. Her life is recognized by the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc., every year in the month of April as "Violette Anderson Day." Violette Anderson died in 1937. Did You Know...?

Dr. Christine M. Darden was born on September 10, 1942 in Monroe, North Carolina. She became a leader in Sonic Boom technology at NASA. Christine graduated Valedictorian of Allen High School in 1958 and won a scholarship to Hampton University, earning a degree in Mathematics Education in 1962. She became a research assistant at Virginia State College, earning her Masters in Applied Math. By 1954, Christine was working for NASA as a data analyst solving math problems and writing computer programs. Within six years, Christine was promoted to AeroSpace Engineer. Incredibly, she also went back to school to earn her PhD in Fluid Mechanics while working full time and being promoted at NASA. In 1989, Christine developed the Sonic Boom research program at NASA with title of Technical Leader, a new division of the High Speed Research Program. Christine led the research at NASA, and coordinated universities, private institutions and the aviation industry around this research. In her 40 year career at NASA, Christine also contributed to different divisions, served on many private government projects, and authored over 50 publications on wing design, flap design, and sonic boom prediction and minimization. Septima Poinsette Clark known as the "Grandmother of the American Civil Rights Movement, was a teacher and civil rights activist whose citizenship schools helped enfranchise and empower African Americans. Born on May 3, 1898, in Charleston, South Carolina, Clark branched out into social action with the NAACP while working as a teacher. Clark had major relations to other black activists of the Civil Rights Movement, such as Booker T. Washington and W. E. B. DuBois. Washington and Clark both emphasized the importance of self-improvement before the importance of institutional reforms. DuBois and Clark agreed on the emphasis of education as the most important approach to the civil rights movement. Septima Clark Public Charter School in Washington, DC is named in her honor. In 1979, President Jimmy Carter awarded her a Living Legacy Award in 1979. Her second autobiography, Ready from Within: Septima Clark and the Civil Rights Movement, won the American Book Award. Clark was 89 when she died on December 15, 1987, on South Carolina's Johns Island. For more information visit: <http://www.biography.com/people/septima-poinsette-clark-38174>
